HOW BUTLER TAKES IT.

FRESH AND SMILING AND AT WORK.

What the Chairman of the Massachusetts Democratic Executive Committee Says—Ready to Run Butler Again.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 8.—Governor Butler came down from Lowell yesterday early and was promptly on duty at the State House. He was looking remarkably clear and fresh and wore the customary nosegay of flowers in his button-hole. In answer to queries, he said he had nothing to say in regard to the campaign. He believed the Democrats at least had cast an honest vote and that no frauds had been attempted on their part. He said: "After the smoke of battle has cleared away, I shall probably analyze the vote and then, perhaps, I shall be ready to talk politics and have some news for you, but now I am too busy with the affairs of the State to even consider my own political future. Chairman N. A. Plympton, of the Executive Democratic State Committee, however, was more communicative. He could only see cause for congratulation among the Democrats on account of their tremendous gain. "We shall," said he, "begin to-morrow to reorganize our force in the State, and next year, with Benj. F. Butler as our standard-bearer we shall achieve a great victory. When Massachusetts shows a Democratic gain of 50,000 in two years, when she reduces the Republican majority, from 75,000 to a paltry 8,000, it shows that the people are wide-awake, are thinking for themselves, are no longer disposed to submit to political bosses. We shall keep our headquarters open, and at once begin on our next campaign."

A NEW YORK SENSATION.

A Deserter Who Attempts to Shoot Her Sneak of a Husband.

New York, Nov. 8.—Mrs. Louise Pey Coty, a French lady, recently came to this country in search of her husband, who she alleges deserted her at Marseilles several years ago and came to New York, taking with him their only child, a boy now ten years old. She had heard that he had been married again to a woman with whom he had been intimate with in France, and she intended to cause his prosecution for bigamy, but her main object was to obtain possession of her child. She was unsuccessful in her search and had taken passage on to-morrow's steamer for Havre, but yesterday afternoon she chanced to encounter Mr. Coty on Broadway and an angry interview took place, during which Mrs. Coty drew a small pistol and threatened to shoot her husband. He struck her arm down and the weapon was discharged without injury to any one. The occurrence attracted a crowd and Mrs. Coty was arrested. At the Police Court her husband preferred a charge of felonious assault and she was held in $500 bail for trial. Mrs. Coty, who is a handsome brunette of about thirty, persists in her determination of prosecuting her husband and regaining her child.

ENGLISH POLITICS.

The Policy of the Government on Certain Questions.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The Government, it is announced, will adopt the policy decided upon by the Liberals of Leeds Conference as expressed by John Bright, namely, to divide the question of reform in the suffrage from that of a new distribution of Parliamentary seats, and make a suffrage bill the first and principal business of the coming session. The measure will aim to do away with the present distinction between borough and county franchises. At present householders in boroughs are entitled to vote, while in the counties the franchise requires that the rent paid shall be equal £10 per annum. If the equalization be effected it will add about 1,000,000 electors to the franchise and will enormously strengthen the Irish vote. The decision of the Government to promptly take up consideration of this bill has greatly rejoiced the Parnellites. But the Tories are bitterly opposed to it because of the great increase in the Irish electorate which it will bring about.

GOOD DETECTIVE WORK.

How a Gang of Pittsburgh Crooks Was Gathered In.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 8.—As previously stated in these dispatches, on the night before last, the clothing store of J. F. Mendler, on Fifth Avenue, was robbed of from $2,500 to $3,000 worth of made-up suits and piece goods. Yesterday Andy Patterson was arrested on suspicion by Detective O'Mara, and last evening he, in company with other detectives, took possession of a house in Cherry Alley, occupied by a Mrs. Nelson and daughter, which, on being searched, in the cellar was found the entire lot of goods of which they were in search and an additional $200 worth of hair goods belonging to another merchant named Proctor. They placed Mrs. Nelson and daughter under arrest and lay in ambush for the arrival of a third party. In less than a half an hour Thomas Lynch, the suspect, walked into the trap and was captured. The parties are all crooks of widespread notoriety.

A Railroad Layout.

New HAVEN, CONN., Nov. 8.—The Directors of the Hartford & Harlem Railroad Company met in the city, to consider the adoption of a new layout in the place of the one rejected some time since by the Railroad Commissioners. At that time one passed through a part of the city occupied by beautiful residences, and was fought by the citizens, with great persistency. The new route decided upon will pass along Westville with a depot in Westville, a suburb of New Haven. All the line east of this city has been adopted. The present layout cuts off some of the new grounds of the Yale Athletic Association, and will probably be strongly objected to by the Yale students, yet it is believed that the Commissioners will sanction the present route.

FORGER CAUGHT.

An Aged German Fleeing from Home Is Cornered at Boston.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 8.—Nathan Szkolny, a Prussian forger, was arrested on board the steamer Marathon, off Boston Light yesterday on a warrant issued by the Judge of the United States District Court here at the instance of George P. King, acting Consul at this port for the German Government, who received a cable dispatch from the District Attorney of Bromberg, Prussia, where the forgeries were committed. Szkolny is about sixty years of age, and was accompanied by his son, apparently twenty-five years old, who claimed what baggage and personal property were in the possession of the two. Both were taken to the Marshall's office. Their trunks were thoroughly searched, and they voluntarily exhibited their effects. Only $2,500 in coin and $150 worth of diamonds were found. Szkolny said he had been for years in the banking business in Bromberg, and that during the past year or so he had been embarrassed. He had forged several acceptances of drafts, quite recently, amounting in all to $50,000. Finding it impossible to escape detection, he had fled, leaving his family well-nigh destitute, and had sought his son in Berlin. The latter had for several months saved up and with these they had paid their fares to America. The father corroborated the son's statement that he was the owner of the personal effects, except the wearing apparel. Szkolny was arraigned, plead guilty, and was held for further examination.

MAHONE'S DEFEAT.

The Readjuster View of the Recent Election Returns.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 8.—Ex-Senator Mahone's paper says that he has not abandoned his hold on Virginia, and indicates a purpose to renew the agitation of the debt question. There are doubts whether Riddleberger, Mahone's colleague, will act with him in the Senate. There have been reports for months of differences between him and Mahone. He has been thought disposed to resume his relations with the Democracy. The whites predominate in his portion of the State. Riddleberger telegraphs here that his county and the Shenandoah Senatorial District have been won by the Readjusters, which is better success for that party than was expected. One of Mahone's leaders, who has arrived here, says his defeat is directly attributed to the Danville affair, while much injury was done the Readjusters by an open pledge of some of their speakers on the stump to support the Republican nominee for President. The Shenandoah Valley and the Southwestern portion of the State, which have been strongly Readjuster, have also always been strongly Democratic, and the voters of those sections are not prepared to be committed to the Republicans in 1884. The Secretary of the Democratic Committee claims that the popular majority in Virginia will reach 30,000.

METHODIST MISSIONARIES.

Appropriating Thousands of Dollars to Carry from Home.

New York, Nov. 8.—The second day's session of the General Missionary Committee of the Methodist Episcopal Church was presided over by Bishop Harris. Appropriations for South American and Italian missions were considered and discussed at length. It was finally decided to appropriate $27,500 for general missionary purposes in Italy and $12,000 for real estate in Naples, and $22,781 was appropriated for general work in South America. Rev. Doctors Reed, Fowler, and Edwards, General Fisk and Bishop Warren were appointed to prepare the usual address to the church on the subject of missions. The question of abandoning the mission in Bulgaria was further discussed by Bishop Hunt and Dr. Buckley. The committee will vote on this question to-day. Dr. Buckley claims that the mission has been a decided failure, and no further appropriations should be made.

ZORA BURNS' MURDER.

Fresh Evidence To-day and Important Developments Expected.

LINCOLN, ILL., Nov. 8.—In the Burns murder trial the forenoon was consumed in hearing the evidence of eighteen witnesses, brought from Decatur and Carro Gordo to impeach Mrs. Carpenter, of Decatur, an important witness for the State. Some of them were not of good character themselves, but all said Mrs. Carpenter's reputation was bad and they would not believe her under oath. The defense is attempting to prove that Mrs. Carpenter kept an assignation house, and that Zora Burns frequently met a news agent there. There is a rumor of the finding of bloody clothes and that important developments will follow.

The Canadian Pacific.

TORONTO, Nov. 8.—General Manager Van Horne, of the Canadian Pacific Railroad, arrived at Toronto yesterday and states that the attempt to construct a road through Kicking-Horse Pass in the Rocky Mountains, has not been abandoned, nor have the engineers disagreed as to its practicability. Work will be continued next spring, as, owing to snow slides, they could not push work during the winter.

Jim Jams in a Sleeping-Car.

ALTON, O., Nov. 8.—A passenger named Brittain, suffering from delirium tremens, shot the porter of the Pullman sleeping-car yesterday, and then jumped from the window of the car while the train was running at a speed of about thirty miles per hour. He was horribly mangled and will probably not recover.

An Old Man Murdered.

FORT WORTH, TEX., Nov. 8.—Yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock A. W. Fleming, a wealthy citizen of this city, was killed by E. L. Cunningham, a meat merchant. The affair grew out of an old quarrel, and was a cold blooded murder. Fleming was a gray-haired old man.

KILBOURNE'S VERDICT.

JOHN G. THOMPSON IS INDIGNANT

He Says the Finding is Outrageous

and Will Take the Case to the Supreme Court—His Prof-

fered Wager.

New York, Nov. 8.—"What do you think of the verdict of the jury in Kilbourne's suit against you for damages?" asked a reporter of John G. Thompson, ex-Sergeant-at-Arms of the House, at the St. James Hotel. "Why I can only say what every other sensible man would say who has read the evidence of the trial, that it is monstrous, that it is unfair, and that it is a travesty of justice. $50,000 is preposterous. I never heard of such a verdict before in the face of such a charge as was delivered by Judge Cox. 'But,' he added reflectively, 'Those Washington juries are conundrums. My counsel will move to set aside the verdict, and the case will be carried to the Supreme Court. Why, before I left Washington Kilbourne's lawyers were the gloomiest men imaginable, for they felt they had not made out a case, and certainly did not expect the jury to do as it did. I offered to bet that the damages against me would not be over $5,000, if that, but no one would take me up.'"

MONTEFIORE'S BIRTHDAY.

Great Celebration in Honor of the Jewish Philanthropist.

RAMSGATE, Nov. 8.—There was a grand celebration yesterday of the centennial birthday of Sir Moses Montefiore, the distinguished Jewish philanthropist. A public holiday was granted to all work people in the district, and the town is filled with eminent Jews, from all parts of England and many parts of the Continent. Sir Moses, who, despite his ninety-nine full years, is still hale and hearty, received the most prominent of God's chosen people in the early part of the day at his charming but secluded residence on Ramsgate Hill and Sir Nathaniel Rothschild represented the great banker's house, and, among the others in attendance, were Sir David Palmer, Mr. Mocatta, Sir Julian Goldsmid and Mr. Goshen. The Chief Rabbi and the lights of the Synagogue were present in force and remained to assist Sir Moses in the reception. Afterward the Mayor and Corporation waited upon the patriarch and were followed by deputations from the schools, churches, and public bodies of the neighborhood, all coming in state, headed by bands. A procession of thousands of school children carrying flowers sang hymns outside the residence of Sir Moses, who sent cordial thanks to them for their kind greeting. The Queen sent a telegram early in the morning, congratulating the aged Baron in warm terms on the attainment of his centennial birthday. The Prince of Wales and Premier Gladstone also sent congratulatory messages.

A CENTENARIAN.

A Historic Old Lady Celebrates Her Hundredth Birthday.

NEWPORT, R. I., Nov. 8.—Mrs. Anna M. Greene, widow of the late Nathaniel Greene, who was a son of the Revolutionary General Greene, celebrated her one hundredth birthday. Her son, Professor G. W. Greene, the poet Longfellow's lifelong friend, died last April while working on the poet's life in fulfillment of an agreement between the two that whoever died last should write the life of the one who died first. Her other son, Doctor Greene, resides with her. Mrs. Greene enjoys the possession of all her faculties, and with glasses can read and knit readily. Her mind and memory are clear as ever, and she takes great interest in current events. The family is one of the best known in the State, and Mrs. Greene's early married life was spent on the Island of Dunaguer, near Savannah, which was owned by her family. There are buried the Revolutionary Generals Lee and Knox. Mrs. Greene is wealthy and has been the means of doing good during her life, but has persistently avoided notoriety.

Austrian Radicals Arrested.

VIENNA, Nov. 7.—Todoritz, editor of the organ of Self Government, Bjaia, a professor, and Tansharovich, a tradesman, all of whom have been prominent in the Italian movement, have been arrested in Serbia. Pascheck, the leader of the Radicals has escaped into Hungary. The rebellion among the troops in Serbia is rapidly assuming larger proportions and is the cause of much anxiety in Vienna. It is believed that in the event of King Milan's being unable to suppress the insurrection, the Austrian Government will intervene to restore his authority.

A Heavy Weight Love Match.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 8.—Patrick O'Brien, the Irish giant, seven feet eleven inches high and weighing 340 pounds, and Miss Annie Ding, the German giantess, seven feet ten inches high and weighing 340 pounds, now on exhibition in Harris' Museum in this city, will be married on the 20th proximo. This is a case of love at first sight, neither party having seen the other previous to their engagement here last week.

Fatal Railway Wreck.

SAN ANTONIO, TEX., Nov. 8.—Six cars were wrecked and Jonas East, engineer, and George Brown, fireman, killed near Pierce Junction. On the same road Brake-man Price was thrown from the cars and killed. Several others were badly hurt. The employees of the road refuse to give details, having recently received orders to furnish no press reports.

Reported Lynching.

CISCO, TEX., Nov. 8.—A feud in human form outraged a highly respectable invalid lady, Mrs. J. G. McElrath. He was soon captured, and as a mob began to assemble the officers started to Eastland, the county seat, ten miles distant, with him. Men on horseback started in hot pursuit.

TERRIBLE COLLISION.

An Express Train Dashes Into Twelve Empty Freight Cars.

CHICAGO, ILL., Nov. 8.—The "cannon ball" express from Kansas City on the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad struck a misplaced switch at Forty-second street last evening and was thrown upon a side track and into collision with twelve freight cars owned by the Michigan Southern Railroad. The express was an hour and a half late and was running at the rate of forty miles an hour. The collision was terrific, telescoping the freight cars and demolishing the engine, express and mail cars. Engineer J. C. Parker and Fireman Hackett leaped for their lives. The latter was fatally scalded by escaping steam, but the engineer's injuries are slight. G. F. Berry, Baggage Master, was crushed to death beneath the debris of his car and terribly mangled. Conductor J. H. Dickie was badly bruised, but the passengers all miraculously escaped serious injury. Three of the cars were loaded with emigrants and their cries of terror added to the confusion. The disaster was entirely due to the carelessness of John Burns, the Michigan Southern switchtender. The damage to railroad property is estimated at $40,000.

OUR NAVY.

Reports of Various Heads of Department.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 8.—Commodore Seward, Chief of the Bureau of Ordnance of Navy Department, in his annual report, asks for $2,700,000 for the Bureau for the next fiscal year. Of this sum $1,093,000 will be needed to supply ordnance outfits for the monitors Puritan, Terror, Miantonomah, Amphitrite and Monadnock, and $440,000 to complete the outfit for the four new steel cruisers. During the past year experiments have been made with steel armor-piercing projectiles. Varying results were obtained, the best on record being the passage of an unhammered east-side six-inch shell through ten inches of iron, backed by twenty inches of oak. Commodore Wilson, of the Bureau of Construction and Repairs, in his annual report, asks for $400,000 to complete the frigates New York and Mohican. The Thimble process of preserving lumber is strongly advocated. The number of wooden vessels in the Navy will be materially reduced under the act of last March. The report states that the navy yards and private ship-building yards are not in as good condition now for the construction of vessels as they were at the close of the late war.

MCCAFERTY WANTED.

The London Police Offer a Reward for a Fenian.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The London police authorities offer a reward for information of the whereabouts of John McCafferty, who was convicted of treason in Dublin in 1877, and sentenced to penal servitude for life. McCafferty was born in Ohio of Irish parents, and served in the Confederate Army during the war of the Rebellion. He went to Ireland in 1875, intending to aid in the Fenian revolt but was arrested at Queenstown on board the steamer on which he journeyed from America. He was tried at Cork and discharged as an alien, and returned to America. He arrived in England in 1879, and organized the Chester Castle raid in 1887, for which offense he was arrested in Dublin harbor. He was again tried, and was sentenced to death, but the sentence was commuted to penal servitude for life. He subsequently escaped from custody.

An Interpreter's Mistake.

PARIS, Nov. 8.—M. Tricou telegraphs that the mistake of an interpreter caused statement that Li Hung Chang disavowed policy pursued by Mauser Tseng on the Tonquin question. The interpretation should read Li Hung Chang disapproves, not, disavows.

PECK'S BAD BOY.

He Wants to be a Millionaire or Work Miracles, He Don't Care Much Which.

Peck's Son.

"Well, I never see a boy change as you have," said the grocery man to the bad boy, as he came in with a poor dirty looking tramp, and bought him a pound of crackers and a big piece of cheese, and as the tramp sat down on a soap box and began to go through the fodder as though it was a banquet, and the boy looked out of the window at the rain that was falling, the grocery man added, "What has got into you? You haven't got religion have you?"

"Naw, I guess not," said the boy, as he slyed a pickle out of a barrel to the tramp. "That is, I haven't got it by any regular rule, but may be it is in my system. I tell you, old oleomargarine, I have always been in for fun, and haven't cared much how I had it, but lately I have had more fun making people happy than I ever had making pa jump around. Don't you know, if you see a person who is in hard luck, and thinks the world is all a fraud, and who almost wants to be run over by a freight train, and you go to work and surprise the person with a bit of kindness, smuggle a warm meal down him before he knows it, it makes your heart feel as though you had got to loosen your belt. I never knew there was so much suffering in the world until that humane society fellow hired me to go around with him to hold his horse while he relieved distress, but the woods are full of people who have no drawers to wear in winter, and who would faint away at sight of a roast of beef. Gosh, I wish I had a million dollars."

"O, what would you do with a million dollars?" asked the grocery man, as he watched the tramp pick his teeth with a sliver off the soap-box. "If you had a million dollars you would buy a dude suit of clothes, and a trotting wagon with red wheels, and a horse that could trot in two-tens. And you would part your hair in the middle and wear yellow gloves and say 'g-lang.' That's the kind of a millionaire you would be."

"No, sir! you are no guesser," said the boy, as he gave the tramp a glass of cider. "I would buy out a bakery and a meat market, and when poor people hadn't anything to eat I would invite them to eat on Henery. Then I would take a hundred thousand dollars and go around paying a month's rent in advance for people. If some people knew they would not be bothered about paying rent for a month, they would be so happy they would ache. Then I would buy ten thousand pairs of red flannel drawers, regular old thick ones, all sizes, and sell them to poor people and take their notes for the pay. You see some people wouldn't like to have drawers given to them, but if you took their notes they would feel as though they bought the drawers, and then you could have a bonfire and burn up the notes. But I had rather be able to work miracles than be a millionaire. If I could take stones and turn them into loaves of bread, and water into wine, the way Christ did, I would set up business at a stone quarry and open a free bakery, and I would take the Milwaukee river and make it into wine and tell the poor people to help themselves. It would make the brewers sick, but they could ship their beer to Texas and Colorado. I tell you, what this country needs is a fellow that can make a bakery out of a stone quarry by a simple turn of the wrist, and I had rather have such a job than to be President. If I could turn hard heads into bread it would be a picnic. I would take a big stone and go to the home of a poor woman who had nothing to eat in the house and tell her I had brought her some bread, and I would hand her a stone as big as a peck measure, and she would see it was a stone, and the tears would come to her eyes, and she would look sorry because I was so mean, and then while she was wiping her eyes on the under side of her apron I would touch the stone with my magic wand, and turn it into a loaf of salt rising bread, or brown bread, with a mansard roof on, and the look the poor woman would give me, when she found the stone was bread, would be worth a thousand dollars, and I would go away feeling pretty cunning, and I should want to be able to turn cord wood into canvass hams, too."

"Yes, that is all right for talk, but you ain't no angel yet," said the grocery man. "The detective in this ward says he is shadowing a lot of you boys that are holding clandestine meetings in a barn, and he thinks you are up to some devilry. You better look out or the detective will have you boys all pulled." "Don't you worry about us," said the boy, as he gave the tramp a quarter to buy the next meal, and told him not to mention it, when the tramp began to thank him. "That detective is too smart for his boots. We have formed a society for playing jokes on poor widows this winter. I have got nine boys in our neighborhood to join the society, and we are going to make it hot for widows, and don't you forget. The humane society man is going to tell us when they take a load of wood to a poor widow's house, and us boys are going to sneak up to her house after dark, armed to the teeth with buck saws and saw bucks, and axes, and before a widow knows what kind of a gang we are, we are going to saw up her wood and split it and carry it in. We made the darndest mistake last night, on the South side, though. We found a load of wood next to a poor widow's house, and sawed it up and carried it in, and after we had got it all done, a dutch cigar maker, next door, who owned the wood, got mad about it and made us pay four dollars for the wood. It took all the money we had, but it was fun, and the widow never where the wood came from. I had to sell my skates to raise my share, but there is no ice, anyway. I suppose that detective thinks he will run on to a kit of burglar tools when he makes a raid on us in the barn, but he will find us filing saws. Pa says us boys have struck a lead now that makes him proud of us and if we can't find wood enough to saw he will buy some. If he does we will give it to somebody that is poor. We are not sawing wood for people that are able to hire a Polack to saw it."

"Well, you take the cake," said the grocery man, as he cleaned up the single crumb that the tramp left. "One spell I expected you would bring up in State prison, and now I wouldn't be surprised any Sunday to go to church and find you in the pulpit."

"No, you needn't expect to find me in a pulpit," said the boy, as he scratched a match on his pants to light the tramp's pipe. "I shall practice and not preach."

PINKERTON's detectives are working on another theory in the Zura Burns case than that Carpenter is the guilty man.

GENERAL GRANT has written General Fitz John Porter a most hearty and cordial letter, concluding as follows: "I hope for your thorough vindication, not only by Congress, but in the minds of your countrymen."

A MEETING of the Republican National Committee will be held at the Arlington Hotel, Washington, December 12th, for the purpose of deciding upon the place and date for holding the next National Republican Convention.

PRESIDENT ARTHUR is elated at the result in New York, but has expressed regret at the defeat of Mahone. He had hoped the movement against the Bourbons would bring Republican Electoral votes from south of the Potomac.

The Ohio Supreme Court has held that in the absence of any agreement to the contrary, the obligation created by the sale of a railway ticket is for one continuous passage—that is, a stop-over-check can not be demanded of the company.

It is the opinion of leading financiers that the receipts of gold in America from Europe will continue for a long time to come. Several millions are now on the way and idea isn't as pleasant to some as it might be were the gold bound for some other quarter.

BEN BUTLER says he increased his vote in Massachusetts from 112,000 to 152,000, and was beaten only by the frauds of his opponents. He holds that Massachusetts will surely be Democratic in the Presidential year, and as to himself, it is a prouder distinction to have increased his vote as he did than to have been elected by the ordinary vote.

The recent enactment in the State of Florida, which forbids licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquors except upon petition of a majority of the voters of the election district, has been considered by the Supreme Court and the constitutionality of the act affirmed. The people in any election district may hence declare absolute prohibition if they choose.

Caaa, the Republican candidate for Secretary of State in New York, has a plurality of 10,772 over Maynard, who runs behind his ticket. The other Republican candidates on the State ticket have probably been defeated by from 4,000 to 6,000. The Legislature is Republican in both branches. Tammany Hall bargained for the defeat of Maynard. In Massachusetts Robinson's majority over Butler is 10,057.

It will be interesting, if not pleasurable, for some of our readers to know that in most civilized countries tobacco forms one of the most important items of national revenue. France, in this respect, leads all the rest. Her present revenue from this source is $73,000,000 per annum, or about $200,000 per day. If it were upon cereal products, or the fruits of the loom, the showing would be a much more commendable one.

An Old Apache's Idea.

Inter Ocean.

The frequent outbreaks and raids of the Apaches and the seeming inability of the Government to keep these Indians under control has had the effect of bringing the military into contempt with the citizens.

The story of the old Apache chief who went to an officer in command of one of the posts in Arizona and asked that a cannon be given him is often told to strangers traveling in Arizona and illustrates the feeling toward the military. The officer refused him the cannon, saying:

"I suppose you want that cannon to kill my soldiers with."

The old chief replied: "Want cannon to kill cow-boys; kill soldiers with a club."

A BRILLIANT audience assembled to witness "London Assurance" as presented by the Chanfraus. The charming old comedy was given in a delightful manner. Mrs. Chanfran as Lady Gay Spanker imparted to the character a vivacity and brightness that could not be excelled. She is a remarkably handsome woman, and her exquisite taste in dress and splendid stage presence lent additional charm to the performance. The supporting company is uniformly good and the expressions of approval on the part of the audience were many and hearty. It is seldom such a really good company comes to Rochester.—Rochester Herald.

She Knew Him Best.

From the Detroit Free Press.

John William Blank belonged to the Ancient and Modern and Highly Honorable Sons of Guns of Detroit. If it wasn't that, it was some other fraternal order which meets every Monday night and pays so much to the heirs of every member who happens to die.

John William happened to die the other month, and a committee was appointed to draft resolutions and present them to his wife in person. The first part of their duty was fulfilled to the entire satisfaction of the lodge, but the committee had some little trouble in finding Mr. Blank. They traced her from one neighborhood to another, and finally found her at her sister's, hat and shawl on and ready to go out.

"Resolutions of sympathy, eh? Well, read 'em."

The chairman of the committee proceeded to read that John William was a good husband and a kind father, and a citizen of unapproachable integrity, when the widow interrupted:

"Too much taffy! We used to have a fight every week, and as for his being a kind father we never had any children. As for his integrity he stole all the wood we burned last winter."

The chairman gulped down something and continued to read that John William was an upright brother, a man with a heart full of sympathy for the misfortunes of others, and that charity and forgiveness were the beacon fires which guided his footsteps.

"Fudge!" sneered the widow. "I washed for the money to pay his dues to the lodge, and all the sympathy any one got out of him wouldn't buy a cent's worth of court-plaster. Forgiveness! Well, some of you ought to have sat down on his hat some time; he'd have revenge if it cost him a year in State prison. Beacon fires is pretty good, considering that we never had a decent stove in the house."

"Madam, your husband has been called hence."

"Exactly; I was at the funeral and ought to know."

"He was cut down like a flower."

"Well, flowers ought to let whisky and saloons and plug tobacco and old sledge alone."

"And we trust that our loss is his gain."

"Well, if he's any better off I'm glad on't, but I guess the gain is on our side. Now, that's all I want to hear. I can pick up a thousand better men than him with my eyes shut. I'm in a hurry to go down and see a woman who offers to sell a fur-lined circular for $15, and if you have any more highfalutin Shakespear to git off, my sister will take it in and save it till I come back."

Marriage Before Noon.

New York Sun.

English persons who want to get married are obliged to do so before noon, unless they can obtain a special license. A bill extending the hour to 4 o'clock is under consideration.

A Natural Mistake.

She was in the dimly lighted reception room of a city dry goods store, and, walking up to a tall mirror placed against the wall, remarked: "Why, how came you here?" Then, observing some surprise, not to say amusement, on the faces of the other occupants of the room, she saw her mistake and explained in great confusion, "I thought it was my sister: 'we're twins.'"

A. R. BURGESS,

LONDON'S DOG SHOW.
One of the Finest Canine Exhibits in Many Years.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—Great surprise has been caused by the fact that there were over 600 entries for the exhibition of St. Bernard dogs, now open at the Knightsbridge Riding School. It was never imagined so many specimens of this noble breed of dog could be found in England, but every member of the aristocracy seems to have at least one of these famous animals, the possession of them being coveted in a marked degree over since the exploits of Lady Florence Dixie's dog Hubert. Among the exhibitors of distinction are the Princess of Wales and the Princess Louise, Lady Greville, the Duchess of Wellington, Lady Rivers, the Duke of Landborough, and the Earl of Crawford. Many renowned champion St. Bernard dogs are on exhibition, including Boniface, Faust, Gretchen, Primrose, Khiva, Pedro, Beauchief and Banard.

New York Dry Goods Trade.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The market for dry goods has been so quiet and unchanged during the past week that a lengthened review is unnecessary. Large auction sales of flannels, cloaks, etc., attracted many purchasers from various points. Outside of the auction rooms operations on the part of jobbers were rather light, nor was there much life in other branches of the trade. The elections had the usual depressing effect upon the market. Early fall trade was of unusually large proportions and a fair supplementary business may be expected. The cautious policy pursued by buyers for a long time past has enabled them to meet their payments with commendable promptitude, and collections are reported easy in all parts of the country. Such failures as have occurred have almost wholly arisen from outside enterprises, and merchants who have stuck to their legitimate business are, for the most part, in a tolerably sound condition.

COWBOY HUMOR.

How Mr. Haley, of Texas, Paid His Hack Driver.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 8.—A Texas cowboy, giving his name as J. C. Haley, hired a hack last night to drive him about the city. After riding as long as he felt like, he alighted from the carriage on West Maryland street and asked the driver what his bill was. The reply was, "Two dollars," when the gentleman from Texas pulled a large revolver from his pocket and said, "I will pay you right here," and fired two shots at the driver, but his aim was bad, neither of them taking effect. Sergeant Snooks was soon on hand, and arrested the fellow. At the Central Station $247.37 was found upon his person and a draft on the Third National Bank of New York for $2,000.

Special Weather Bulletin.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Fair weather continues on the Atlantic Coast, with colder northeast to northwest winds. Cloudiness is increased in the remaining districts with slightly warmer southeast to southwest winds and local rains in the Mississippi and Ohio valley and in the Upper Lakes. The temperature has risen slightly in the Lower Lakes with partly cloudy weather. Rain prevails on the Pacific Coast as far South as San Francisco, where it is reported 1.01 inches rain have fallen within the past twenty-four hours. The indications are slightly warmer partly cloudy prevail in the districts on Atlantic Coast on Friday. Slight rains are indicated for the Upper Lakes and Mississippi Valley, probably followed on Friday by colder, partly cloudy weather.

Poisoned on Pork.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 8.—Mrs. Kate Kortlitzky and two children, who live at 181 Madison avenue, are seriously ill from eating bad pork, purchased at a neighboring butcher shop. The meat was examined and found to be poisoned and unwholesome, similar to that eaten by the family on Pine street.

$47,000 Short.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 8.—County Controller Speer has just filed a report giving the result of his examination into the accounts of the Clerk of Court Rowand, showing a shortage of $47,000.

The Portuguese in Africa.

LISBON, Nov. 8.—News has reached here that Louanda, in the northern portion of the Congo Country, Western Africa has been occupied by the Portuguese.

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Rheumatic Gout, General Debility, Catarrh, and all disorders caused by a thin and impoverished, or corrupted, condition of the blood; expelling the blood-poisons from the system, enriching and renewing the blood, and restoring its vitalizing power.

During a long period of unparalleled usefulness, AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has proven its perfect adaptation to the cure of all diseases originating in poor blood and a weakened vitality. It is a highly concentrated extract of Sarsaparilla and other blood-purifying roots, combined with Iodide of Potassium and Iron, and is the safest, most reliable, and most economical blood-purifier and blood-food that can be used.

Inflammatory Rheumatism Cured.
"AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has cured me of the Inflammatory Rheumatism, with which I have suffered for many years. W. H. MOORE."
Durham, Ia., March 2, 1882.

"Eight years ago I had an attack of Rheumatism so severe that I could not move from the bed, or dress, without help. I tried several remedies without much if any relief, until I took AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, by the use of two bottles of which I was completely cured. I have not been troubled with the Rheumatism since. Have sold large quantities of your SARSAPARILLA, and it still retains its wonderful popularity. The many notable cures it has effected in this vicinity convince me that it is the best blood medicine ever offered to the public. E. F. HARRIS."
Liver St., Buckland, Mass., May 13, 1882.

"Last March I was so weak from general debility that I could not walk without help. Following the advice of a friend, I commenced taking AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, and before I had used three bottles I felt as well as I ever did in my life. I have been at work now for two months, and think your SARSAPARILLA the greatest blood medicine in the world. JAMES MAYNARD."
620 West 42d St., New York, July 19, 1882.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA cures Scrofula and all Scrofulous Complaints, Erysipelas, Eczema, Ringworm, Blisters, Sores, Boils, Tumors, and Eruptions of the Skin. It clears the blood of all impurities, aids digestion, stimulates the action of the bowels, and thus restores vitality and strengthens the whole system.
